Definition of an online resource

An online resource for the purposes of this service is a database of information accessible by the Internet. Some of the information databases are created, updated, and purchased through a subscription. Many are password protected for use at home and utilize IP authentication for use at one school. These resources are easily searched; articles can be printed, copied, and emailed. The information is varied, in depth, and updated frequently. The resource can be very specific such as Teaching-Books.net or very general such as Gale's Student Resource Center. Because of the Internet connection several students can access the same database from different computers, at the same time, any time of the day or night. Note the online databases available in this catalog require user name and password and/or IP authentication.

Reading the information is still reading, but requires higher order thinking skills to search the topic. The user often begins with a broad topic that will need to be narrowed to find the desired information. This is accomplished by more specific search terms and/or following links to other pages on the site. The user will need to determine what information is actually relevant to their search.

NOVELNY is provided to all state residents at no cost. These are valuable resources for students, staff, and parents.

If you need immediate access to NOVELNY contact the SLS office.

The NOVELNY help desk is available: Monday - Friday 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Toll-free (877) 277-0250.

“NOVELNY, the New York Online Virtual Electronic Library, is a public no-cost online information network that creates a ‘library without walls.’ NOVELNY provides a gateway for all New Yorkers to a vast array of electronic books, e-journals, full text magazines and articles as well as to the rich resources of libraries throughout the state via online catalogs, digitized collections of photographs, images, maps, manuscripts, encyclopedias, journals and other proprietary databases licensed on a statewide basis for free public access.”

Career Transitions from Cengage Learning: was developed through collaboration between two Cengage business units: Gale and the Career & Professional Group (CPG). Gale is a world leader in e-research and educational publishing for libraries schools and businesses and CPG is a leading producer of textbooks instructional materials and online learning for the adult education and training markets.

Career Transitions is the first in a new family of Cengage Learning solutions based on practical life skills and learning. It provides people in mid-life – in the midst of job or career change – with an end-to-end workflow for discovering planning and pursuing their next career step. Career Transitions appeals to people with varying levels of comfort with technology helping them perform confidence-building activities as they navigate the 21st Century employment environment. In today's challenging economy or tomorrow's knowledge economy--Career Transitions is a practical and timely resource.

Bringing together the most pertinent and current career and job resources Career Transitions walks users through the five steps of career change in one comprehensive and consistent online experience:

Discover My Interests: This assessment section integrates Career Transition's own digital version of the U.S. Department of Labor's popular O*Net Interest Profiler. Users simply point-and-click in response to questions about various work activities and Career Transitions recommends career paths based on their scores in six career interest categories and the level of preparation or experience necessary for the career. As users browse the recommendations they can compare job and growth opportunities in their state and across the county targeting the ones they like best.

Explore Careers: Here users can explore and compare growth opportunities across over 900 careers and 1200 industries in their states or states across the country. Users can "target" the best choices for themselves and the system saves their choices automatically for later use in finding jobs.

Unique "Learn More About" portals quickly and conveniently provide users with the most pertinent details of the career including recommended education and training salary growth projections and a helpful list of common daily tasks. Longer narrative overviews often complement this information; the portals also pull in national and local job listings opportunities to take online courses listings of associations and companies associated with the specific career or industry and news articles with recent trends and information.

Gale assembles this cross-referenced content from O*Net the Occupational Outlook Handbook Indeed and Gale's authoritative encyclopedias directories and news sources. By using its unique abilities to map disparate content into an intelligent organized experience Gale provides a single consolidated place where users find everything they need to know without having to access and navigate multiple sites or systems.

Prepare Resume: This section contains an intelligent and fully-integrated resume wizard based on the popular Cengage Delmar title "Resume Writer's Workbook." Career Transitions helps users construct an effective and well positioned resume in six easy steps by providing useful tips advice and examples. Users can also create targeted cover letters post their resume to the Web and apply for jobs online. Work is saved automatically for easy retrieval updating and output including printing e-mailing and saving in a number of formats.

Improve my Chances: Users can find easily accessible and useful tips and advice on topics such as Networking Applying Interviewing and Negotiation in this important section as well as access to a personal library of saved articles companies associations and courses. Users can also browse through the ed2go online course catalog for more opportunities to improve their skills knowledge or experience and overall job chances.

Find Jobs provides a robust job-search environment that enables users to create focused job search profiles using their Career Transitions targets or search free-form around keywords and location. Through a partnership with Indeed the Career Transitions job search engine pulls posting from all over the Web including major job boards company sites education/military/government sites and local classified ads. Gale's mapping capabilities ensure top functionality and suitability for users.

Additional features:

- Although Career Transitions is designed to walk users through the job change process individual modules can also be accessed directly.
- Career Transitions can be fully customized to integrate local resources highlight local employers promote location-specific classes and workshops link to customized resources and more.

TURN IT IN

Turnitin.com service for Plagiarism Prevention. Their plagiarism prevention system is based on customized Originality Reports. ‘Originality Reports are exact duplicates of submitted papers, except that any text either copied or paraphrased from the Internet or their database appears underlined, color coded, and linked to its original online source.

Subscribers receive reports for every submitted assignment at their own Turnitin.com “report inbox”, usually within 4-6 hours. Information contained in the reports gives users the ability to determine for themselves the extent to which any given work is plagiarized or original. Submitted papers are compared not only against the entire Internet, but also against an exclusive database of previously submitted student papers. Turnitin.com uses Document Source Analysis technology; this software uses a set of powerful algorithms to create a ‘digital fingerprint’ of any text document.

The system works as follows:

- First, a ‘digital fingerprint’ is made of the submitted document using a specially developed set of algorithms.
- Document’s ‘fingerprint’ is cross-referenced against the local database containing hundreds of thousands of papers.

- At the same time, automated web crawlers are released to scour the rest of the Internet for possible matches.
- Finally a custom, color-coded ‘originality report’ is completed with source links, for each paper.

Peer Review: allows instructors the ability to create customized “peer review assignments” that students can use to evaluate and learn from each other’s work. Peer review assignments provide a precise framework for students to think critically about the elements of good essay and paper writing, such as evidence, style, and voice. Because peer review assignments are completely customizable, instructors can easily integrate themes pertinent to their personal teaching methods and classes.

GradeMark: a groundbreaking tool that allows instructors to grade papers online without pen and paper.

GradeBook: a tool that enables instructors to manage grades and assignments online with familiar, at-a-glance usability of a paper gradebook and the powerful flexibility of a computer-based grading interface.

TURNITIN EDUCATIONAL SUITE INCLUDES:
Plagiarism Prevention, Peer Review, GradeMark, and GradeBook
